Ice Melt Training

Chemical Attributes of Ice Melt- DID YOU KNOW??? Too much ice melt destroys the cement and is unsafe for the surrounding grass and shrubs!

Mail Processing Update

We want to inform you about recent developments in our mail processing at SRCI and provide important information about what you may experience in the coming week.

WHATS HAPPENING: Additional resources have been deployed to the SRCI Mailroom to address a backlog that developed during the inspection process for mail requiring additional review. We anticipate having this backlog fully resolved by the end of the week.

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU:

You may receive mail that arrived several months ago

You and your correspondents may receive Violation Notices for mail that arrived several months ago

Please do not kyte the Mailroom asking if you have mail - we won't know until we process it as we clear the backlog

CONTEXT: SRCI receives approximately 16,500 pieces of mail per month. Mail in standard white envelopes on standard white paper and Legal Mail have not been affected and continues to be processed within the normal 2-3 day timeframe. The backlog specifically affects mail that required additional inspection.

We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this has caused and appreciate your patience as we work through this issue.

Building Strength, Community and Responsibility Through Recreation As we move to the end 2025 and into 2026 the Recreation Department at Snake River Correctional Institution would like to recognize and commend the many AICs who have committed themselves to personal growth through fitness, wellness, and positive behavior. Recreation is more than just activity—it is a powerful tool that contributes to a positive Institution culture, personal accountability, and long-term success.

Throughout the past year, AICs have taken full advantage of available recreational opportunities, including basketball, softball, futbol" volleyball, pickleball, CrossFit-style workouts, running groups, structured cardio classes, weightlifting programs, and individualized fitness plans, and several more scheduled activities. These programs not only promote physical health, but also help reduce stress, improve mental well-being, and positively influence the overall tone of the facility. A consistent commitment to fitness has been shown to encourage structure, discipline, and respect—qualities that benefit both individuals and the institution as a whole.

Physical fitness also plays an important role in preparing individuals for life beyond SRCI. Developing healthy routines, goal-setting skills, and self-motivation through recreation supports positive decision-making and has been linked to reduced recidivism. The habits formed in the gym, on the track, or on the court often translate into healthier lifestyles and improved outcomes after release.

We'd also like to give a shout-out to everyone who's taken advantage of the music programs and stepped up to learn instruments like drums or guitar. Choosing to spend your time learning music takes dedication and patience, and it goes a long way in helping you relieve stress while creating a more positive, respectful atmosphere for everyone at SRCI. Your effort to grow, learn something new, and contribute to a better environment does not go unnoticed—keep pushing forward.

In addition to fitness programming, positive behavior has provided opportunities for special events thru the Non Cash Incentive program supported by outside vendors, allowing AICs to engage with the local community through food-related events. These experiences reinforce the value of positive choices and mutual respect.

With these opportunities comes shared responsibility. Recreational and athletic equipment—weights, machines, basketballs, soccer balls, baseball gear, and accessories—are shared resources. While normal wear and tear is expected, taking care of equipment through proper use and respect ensures it remains safe and available for everyone.

By continuing to support one another, maintain respect for shared spaces, and stay committed to positive goals, recreation at SRCI will remain a meaningful pathway to growth, accountability, and success.

Thank you all -- Recreation Folks
