Mailroom hot topics regarding publication violations:

Each issue of every publication is reviewed individually. Some editions or issues comply with the Oregon Administrative Rules (OAR) and are approved for distribution, while others are found to be in violation and are therefore not allowed. This has always been the standard review process for all magazines.

In the case of Strip LV, approximately 550 different editions/issues have been evaluated over the past ten years. Of those, about 430 were approved for distribution, while approximately 120 were rejected for failing to meet OAR standards.

The initial review is conducted by Administrative Specialists assigned to the mailrooms at each facility. If an edition or issue is believed to be in violation of the OAR, it undergoes a second-level review by the Department of Corrections' Chief of Security before being formally rejected statewide. All twelve facilities use the same approved/rejected list, which is integrated into the statewide software system used to process all incoming mail.

The standards used in this review process are outlined in Oregon Administrative Rule 291-131.

If you would like more information regarding the specific reason an issue was rejected, you may request an Administrative Review, if appropriate, by submitting a kye to the Superintendent's Office. Additional details about this process can be found in the OAR referenced above and on the Violation Notices.
